Objectives of the conference

MICROSCOPY AND NON-DESTRUCTIVE MATERIAL TESTING 2020 The conference is focused on the use of optical, laser and electron microscopy for materials research, optimization of material properties and analysis of relationships with production technologies. Conference approaches use these methods to solve production and technological problems and new trends and opportunities in these areas. In addition, the conference will deal with using non-destructive testing in the production process for testing and inspection of materials and the research approach and the possibility of using special techniques in practice and research (thermal imager, high-speed camera, x-ray equipment, ultrasound equipment and lines, etc.). The conference will be introduced to a variety of devices and equipment which can become familiar with their use, function, operation, etc.

The conference will also present a section dealing with the surface treatment of aluminum materials, specifically the topic of new trends in nano and micro coating of aluminum alloys.

The main goals and focus of the conference MICROSCOPY AND NON-DESTRUCTIVE MATERIAL TESTING 2020 is to give a comprehensive overview of the current situation in these areas:

- use of microscopy, X-ray methods and non-destructive methods of research and solving technological problems,
- electron microscopy and its applications in science, research and optimization of material properties and manufacturing processes,
- nano and micro coating of aluminium alloys,
- new trends and equipment in the field of microscopy,

Important!!!!!!

The publishing of the article in the journal is subjected to fulfilling the requirements for writing the articles: delivery of a contract for the transfer of copyrights to the paper and a review process resulting in the publication of the article for publication.

Journal Manufacturing Technology (ISSN 1213-2489) - MT

For articles in English, which the author presents the magazine Manufacturing Technology (ISSN 1213-2489) is used exclusively MTA web portal for posting to this journal, see the link below.

<http://journal.strojirenskatechnologie.cz/portal/>

If the author is not registered on the portal MTA must first register, i.e. complete all the required information and submit the form. Subsequently receive e-mail with a link to confirm your registration, thereby activating their personal page. On this page you will have the option to post articles (not just for this conference), and track the status of your article.

For conference Microscopy and Non-destructive Material Testing 2020 when inserting article, please select the "Type of article" the "NDT conference article" to assign your article just to this event. Formal requirements for writing articles (template) + contract for the transfer of copyright are introduced in the system of internet application.

The publication in the MT magazine is within the Microscopy and NDT conference with an extra charge of 120 EUR with VAT.

The full text of the papers will be accepted only until 30. 8. 2021

After receiving the article for publication (successful review process), the author of the article will be sent an invoice to pay the publication fee. Within the reduced (conference) publication fee (120 € with VAT MT) one article of each author will be published, each additional article will be invoiced at full rate, ie 180 € with VAT - MT.

Articles that do not undergo review will not be published.

The reduced fee for the publication fee is subject to attendance at the conference.

In case of posting after August 30, 2019, the author is aware that the article will not be published in the designated Manufacturing Technology number for this conference or in the following issue. If you are interested in posting a post, they must pay the full publishing rate, ie € 180 with VAT.
